Snapshot of CPC's STR Study

Local Industry

- Most of the listings are in the 3 major platforms: Airbnb (~4,500 listings), HomeAway/VRBO (~1,500), VRBO and FlipKey (500+), but there are at least 20 other platforms with listings in the New Orleans area;
- Estimate about 4,000-5000 listings overall
- Demand for short term rentals mostly concentrated in the historic core neighborhoods
- Lessons Learned
- The most successful cities in regulating short term rentals:
 - Have categorized short term rentals into different types,
 - Have standards to ensure guest safety,
 - Set appropriate fees and fines, and
 - Revised the short term rental regulations after their implementation;
- Short term rentals are residential uses with commercial type impacts; therefore:
 - Should be permitted in commercial and mixed-use districts, and
 - Only permitted residential districts in limited circumstances;
 - Allow least problematic types (operator present, temporary rentals, or in non-residential districts)

Permitting, Licensing & Enforcement

- All short term rental operators need to apply for a permit with Safety and Permits to ensure that they meet zoning and building codes
- Permits are privileges not rights
- Proof of valid liability insurance of $500,000 or more
- Affidavit attesting the operator maintaining a safe environment by complying with Building and Life Safety Codes, providing smoke detectors & fire extinguishers, and posting the location of fire exits and escape routes;
- The operator shall post their short term rental license on the façade of the property & notify neighborhood organizations and residents within 150 feet of the property;
- Permits shall contain: permit number, name and contact for owner, name and contact for property manager, if applicable, occupancy limit, and rules
- Permits valid for one year and are not be automatically renewed
- 3 types of STR license
 - Accessory
 - Temporary
 - Commercial
- STRs will pay hotel/motel and occupancy privilege taxes plus NHIF fund
- The license fees range from $50/year for a Temporary Short Term Rental w homestead exemption and $500/year for Commercial Short Term

Penalties

- The following shall be advertising violations: to advertise without a license, to fail to post license number in the listing, and to advertise beyond the scope of the license.
- The Department of Safety and Permits will develop an administrative adjudication mechanism for short term rental violations;
- Penalties include:
 - Daily fines

Tax Collection & Data Sharing with Platforms

- Airbnb and other major platforms have agreed to sign collection agreements with the City to collect taxes and fees
- Airbnb will adopt a pass through registration system that would allow the platform to submit a registration to the City on the Host's behalf. The system would authorize the passing through of basic registration information to the City on behalf of hosts. Airbnb would create a bifurcated system to allow for the registration of (1) Type A (Residential); (2) Type T (Temporary); and (3) Commercial.
 - Registration information would include:
 - Name
 - Listing address
 - Tax address
 - Contact information (e-mail address, phone number)
 - Type A, Type T, and Commercial
- Airbnb will also provide the City with a range of aggregate and anonymized information about activity on the platform on a quarterly basis that will provide number of bookings.
- Deadline of November 3 to work out those final agreements before this moves forward
